

Meteor São Paulo

Ok, everything's ready

Here comes Meteor!

Vamos nos conhecer!

It's a kind of magic!

Alan Kay

McLuhan

Nicolelis

Engelbart

#NBCNIGHTLYNEWS

Breve História do Meteor

GEOFF SCHMIDT

Miro, MixApp, Asana, Monument

Founders

MATT
DeBERGALIS
ActBlue, Kernel
Hacker

Founders

NICK MARTIN
MixApp

Founders

DAVID GREENSPAN
Etherpad, Google
Wave, Google App
Engine, AppJet

Founders

ALEXIS OHANIAN

DUSTIN MOSKOVITZ

PAUL BUCHHEIT

ANDREESSEN & HOROWITZ

PHOTO: REUTERS/BRENDAN McDERMID

Believers

The Mission

Writing software is too hard and it takes too long. It's time for a new way to write software – especially application software, the user-facing software we use everyday to talk to people and keep track of things.

This new way should be radically simple.

It should make it possible to build a prototype in a day or two, and a real production app in a few weeks. It should take everyday things easy, and a real production app in a few weeks. It should make everyday things easy, even when those everyday things involve hundreds of servers, millions of users and integration with dozens of other systems. It should be built on collaboration, specialization, and division of labor, and should be accessible to the maximum number of people.

Meteor is our audacious attempt to solve all of these big problems, at least for a certain large class of everyday applications. We think that success will come from hard work, respect for history and “classically beautiful” engineering patterns, and a philosophy of generally open and collaborative development.

Princípios

001

Javascript Puro

002

Atualização em tempo real

003

Sincronização de dados

004

Compensação de Latência

005

Hot Code Pushes

006

Ambiente privilegiado

007

Bundles de aplicações

008

Interoperabilidade

009

Smart Packages

Projetos da Comunidade

Pizza!

Boa noite!

